

6th International Conference on Remanufacturing (ICoR)

June 27 -29, 2023
Amsterdam, The Netherlands

The University of Brighton in collaboration with the University of Strathclyde will host the 6th International Conference on Remanufacturing (ICoR) in Amsterdam from June 27-29, 2023. ICoR will be held in conjunction with ReMaTec 2023, the world's leading international trade show dedicated to remanufacturing worldwide.

This conference brings together international participants from academia and industry to learn about the latest research and industrial trends within remanufacturing, and foster collaboration to advance remanufacturing solutions in support of sustainability and the transition to a circular economy around the world.
